

The Scorpions Concert

Sunday, 08 September 2013 13:52

{joomplu:2429 left}

The legendary band Scorpions will visit St. Petersburg for the final time. The farewell concert will be the most colorful and memorable show of this year. The group will bring with them their latest album "Comeblack", and the rockers will be accompanied by a Symphony Orchestra.

The concert promises to be the real show, as the retiring the rockers will perform together with the Russian Symphony Orchestra and the Sofia Symphony Orchestra, which play in the genre of modern symphony. The conductor of the orchestra will be Constantine Orbelyan.

The concert will feature songs such as: Rhythm of Love, Wind of Change, Still Loving You, Blackout as well as a cover of the song "Across the Universe" by The Beatles and many other great songs.

Venue: Ledoviy Dvorets (Ice Palace), Prospect Pyatletok, metro station Prospekt Bolshevikov

Date: October 29

View Larger Map

SP Guide's Most Popular:

- Letter of Invitation/Support for Russia